Address by President McCain Opens Campus Religion Week

BY DONNA THOMPSON

"College and university campuses are characterized today by a resurgence of interest in religion," remarked President James A. McCain Sunday night.

Speaking before the first meeting of Religious Emphasis week in the Student Union theater, President McCain opened a series of talks and forums to be conducted during the week by leaders of various faiths.

Tonight the Rev. O. L. Ice, of the Calvary Baptist church, Minneapolis, is speaking on "The Missing Fundamental in Higher Education," at eight o'clock in the Silver room.

Tonight's Speaker

THE REV. O. L. ICE

"I would like to show the identity between the ideals of our religious faiths and our educational objectives," said McCain.

"There are several goals of education, the most materialistic of which is occupational competence. In regard to his goal, it was discovered in a recent survey that the foremost reason for dismissing men from jobs was due to lack of personality.

"The personality traits which were responsible for their losing their jobs in the first place and probably a hindrance to a promotion in the second were listed by the survey as carelessness, laziness, non-cooperation, dishonesty and lack of initiative.

Exchange Students Need Rooms

An appeal to fraternities and sororities to provide either room or board to foreign students attending the University during the 1948-49 school year was given Friday by Dr. B. E. Thomas, chairman of the university's International Education committee.

Dr. Thomas said, "These students would be more than willing to work to pay for these favors." He added that some of the foreign students will receive scholarships from the University, but that most of them will need help for their board and room.

Students coming to this country are submitted to a double screening process of scholarships and morals, one in the country of origin and the other in this country at the Institute of International Education. As a result we are sure of getting excellent material," he said.

Any fraternity or sorority interested in providing room or board is asked to contact Dr. Thomas in Room 206 in the Old Science building. Dr. Thomas added that he must have this information as soon as possible, since he must send in an early report of the university's exchange student program to the Institute of International Education.

Sarsfield New Mayor of Row House Group

Row house residents elected George Sarsfield, Butte, mayor, and five aldermen Sunday afternoon at the Community center. Sarsfield succeeds Charles "Timer" Moses, Midwest, Wyo., as mayor.

The group elected Robert Stephenson, Ithaca, N. Y.; Marvin Tschudin, Missoula; Leon Pollard, Plains; Mrs. Robert Patton, Missoula; and Bob Fader, Missoula, as aldermen. The council will act for the row houses on all problems that affect the group as a whole.

The officers will serve for one year, with elections to be held at the beginning of fall quarter of each year. The group also decided that the council will meet once a month and notify row house residents of their actions.

The meeting opened with a discussion as to whether or not the people present should go ahead with plans to organize. Some expressed opinions that they should postpone action until a larger group attended. The majority present, though, voted to go ahead with plans to elect the council.

The group then decided to have five aldermen and a mayor. The aldermen to represent both the university students living in the row houses and the veterans living in the Chamber of Commerce units.

Sarsfield's first official act as mayor was to appoint Mrs. Don Larson, Great Falls, and Mrs. Frank Pettinato, Kalispell, to the house committee for the Community center. One representative from the residents of the trailer units and one from the pre-fabs is to be named to the committee also. Moses was appointed chairman of the social committee. He will also act in advisory capacity to the council.

Foster Will Lecture To Foresters

Ellery Foster of Portland, Ore., director of research and education for the International Woodworkers of America, CIO, will speak at the University today on "The Aims and Purposes of Organized Labor in the Wood Industry." He will speak at 4 p.m. in Forestry 106.

Dean of Forestry Kenneth P. Davis said that Mr. Foster has been invited to lecture to forestry students but he also said that other interested persons may attend.

This morning Mr. Foster was scheduled to speak to Prof. T. C. Spaulding's forest economics class on "Abundance vs. Scarcity Economics in Forestry."

Last night Mr. Foster addressed members of the Northern Rocky Mountain section of the Society of American Foresters at the university forestry school. Dean Kenneth P. Davis, chairman of the Northern Rocky Mountain section, presided over the session.

Mr. Foster is a well known labor economist and is a trained forester, having spent many years with the United States Forest Service. He received his M.A. in forestry at the University of Michigan and was at one time state forester of Minnesota.

262 Students Make Honor Roll

Nite Club Performers

Donna Skates and Dick Humphrey, both of Billings, are shown above as they sang "Tea for Two" as part of the floor show of the Music club's Nite Club dance last week end in the Student Union Gold room.

Autumn quarter's honor roll totals 262 students who have either a minimum of 36 grade points with an index of two, or a minimum of 30 grade points with an index of two and one-half.

Joseph W. McCracken, Dillon, senior, hit high on grade points with 58 to his credit. Samuel Levern Buker, Missoula, senior, and James B. Johnson, Billings, sophomore, followed with 55 grade points each.

The sophomore class topped the list with 78 students, juniors followed with 65 students, freshmen 61, seniors 45, and graduate students 13.

Straight A's were distributed to 30 students, of whom 11 were sophomores, 8 juniors, 7 seniors, and 4 graduate students.

Sophomores earning straight A's were Wyman Andrus, Missoula; Xenia Anton, Billings; Milton E. Cascaden, Great Falls; Ralph K. Davidson, Missoula; Robert G. Egge, Butte; Richard F. Keefe, Great Falls; Eugene Kramer, Missoula; Cassius R. McEwen, Missoula; John McRae, Jordan; Mrs. Maxine W. Pierce, San Diego, Calif.; and Sterling E. Soderlind, Billings.

Three point averages among the junior class include William C. Dockins, Harlowton; Estelle V. Foss, Missoula; Vincent L. Gadow, Crosby, N. D.; Myrtle Lou Hammell, Helena; Walter D. Kelsch, Glendive; Donald A. Larson, Great Falls; Douglas C. Sheppard, Chinook; and Patricia L. Wells, Minneapolis, Minn.

The seven seniors with straight A's were Frances T. Beaubien, Eugene, Ore.; Anna M. Harwick, Deer Lodge; Edwin G. Kellner, Dillon; Edward E. Minty, Missoula; Lawrence F. Rooney, Whitefish; Dewey A. Slough, Hardin; and Mary E. Wall, Kalispell.

Graduate students making A averages were James L. Athearn, Havre; Leonard R. Mewaldt, Missoula; Elweyn F. Pfeffer, Rochester, N. Y.; and Kenneth R. Toole, Missoula.

Organ Recital Due Tonight

Six music school students will take part in an organ recital this evening in the Student Union auditorium at 7:30.

Ruby Lien Singer, Peerless, will play "In Death's Strong Grasp the Savior Lay" by Bach and "I Love the Lord Most High" by Kreckel.

The second number on the program will be "Meditation, Opus 14" by Kay Warnke, Glendive.

Two Guilman selections will be presented. Judson Maynard, Choteau, will play "Sonata in C Minor, Opus 80"; and Margaret Lampen, Great Falls, will play the "Sonata in C Minor, Opus 56."

The last two numbers listed are Mendelssohn's "Fifth Sonata" by Xenia Anton, Billings, and Boellmann's "Suite Gothique" by Ross Farabaugh, Missoula.

Freshmen Girls Allowed Three Visits Home

Freshman women cannot go home more than three times during a quarter, according to an AWS ruling made at the last meeting of the organization.

Bette Hillstrand, Great Falls, president of AWS, said that the ruling excludes such holidays as Christmas, Thanksgiving, and other vacation periods. She also pointed out that the ruling applied to freshman women only.

This ruling was in effect several years ago, Miss Hillstrand said, but for the past few years it hasn't been enforced.

Tax Campaign Organized

The executive board of the Greater University made plans last week at Helena for a state-wide campaign to support the proposals increasing the millage tax for education and the $5 million bond issue, Pres. James A. McCain said yesterday.

He said plans were made leading to the appointment of a full-time director of the campaign, which will be carried through to election time. The group also discussed plans to enlist the aid of student bodies in the campaign.

The funds for the campaign, President McCain said, will be raised largely by alumni of the six institutions and civic organizations.

A large part of the time was spent in a continuation of the study on duplication and overlapping of courses in the six institutions. No agreement was made for recommendations to the state board of education, President McCain said.

AUDITOR SPEAKS TO BUSINESS CLASS

Orville Skones, fiscal auditor for the Forest Service was the speaker in the 2 o'clock office management class Monday.

His subject was "The Accounting, Auditing, and Stenographic Department of the Forest Service." Most of his talk was concerned with the methods used by this service to handle peak loads for busy seasons and for in-season training programs.

Many Students Shirk X-rays

Over seventy students who were scheduled for X-rays Monday morning failed to appear, Dr. C. R. Lyons, health service director, said yesterday.

Dr. Lyons stressed the fact that the X-rays are required to complete the students health records.

"If the student has failed to keep his appointment he should go to the infirmary at once and have the X-ray taken," Dr. Lyons said. "If too many wait until the end of MSU's allotted time, they will create a surplus that the unit will not be able to handle."

Orchids to the Musicians

Five years ago we were called on to turn pages for the School of Music's Dean John Crowder during a 15-minute broadcast from the Student Union auditorium. His sober rendition of the Moonlight Sonata was enjoyable, and he impressed us as being a competent (if too serious) pianist as well as an administrator.

The dean did right well by his charges—along a lighter vein—when he pounded out some nice boogie as part of the floor show for the Music club's Nite club dance this past week end. Indeed, it brought many a chuckle from the audience. It is most certainly true that still water runs deep.

It is not Mr. Crowder alone to whom orchids are due, however, but to all the members of the Music club and school who were responsible for the high caliber of entertainment offered and well-received by patrons of the dance.

There is reason to believe the foresters will have to do some mighty thorough planning if Foresters ball is to retain its position as the top all-school function of the year.—Gordon E. Nelson.

"Western Hospitality"—Hah

Our native pride in Montana was dealt a hard blow when we read the Sunday papers.

The governor of Minnesota has invited a number of governors to St. Paul to discuss the possibilities of admitting displaced persons to the United States.

In reply, Montana's Governor Sam C. Ford wrote, "I will not consciously add to our economic difficulties by inviting displaced persons to come to this state and I sincerely hope none of the 850,000 persons mentioned are permitted to come to the United States and certainly not to Montana."

Sparsely-populated Montana needs people, and it's our opinion that these persons, who have been shoved around, persecuted, and starved for years, would appreciate the chance to come to a relatively undeveloped state, and what's more, would become good citizens.

And to those who believe such a dismal background would cause these displaced persons to be "problem children" we ask, "Didn't many of our own ancestors leave their homes because of hunger, oppression, or persecution?"

Some of the finest minds in Europe are among these displaced Europeans. During and after the war we talked with many of these persons, and their patience, knowledge, and understanding would have put many of us to shame.

But big, lonesome Montana, the land of wide open spaces and hospitality, has gone on record as saying that displaced Europeans will not be welcome in the state.

The Statue of Liberty, which has greeted and inspired millions of our ancestors and many of us, bears the following inscription:

"Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore,
Send these, the homeless, tempest-tossed, to me:
I lift my lamp beside the golden door."

We're ashamed of the abrupt action of Montana's governor in this matter. We hope persons with opinions on this matter relay them to the governor.

And we sincerely hope the governor, on behalf of the people of Montana, offers the cooperation of state agencies with other state or federal organizations concerned with this problem.

It's a long way from Missoula and Miles City to Dachau and Buchenwald—a very long way. Here in out-of-the-way Montana we can learn a lot, and do a bit for some needy persons, by opening our doors to the displaced persons.

CONCLUDING REMARKS ON THE MANDEL TALK

Dear Editor:

The Kaimin of Jan. 15, 1948, with reference to comments on Mr. Mandel's talk, carried the following statement: "A proper kind of criticism of Mr. Mandel would have been to attempt to refute either (1) the validity of his facts, and or (2) the logic of the conclusions which he drew from his facts." I do not believe that Mr. Wolfard, save as a concession to that brevity which often is the soul of wit, normally would simplify matters to such an extent.

The historian, unfortunately, rarely can allow himself the pleasure of the simple procedure outlined above. May I suggest that the more correct approach would demand that we inquire whether Mr. Mandel gave a complete picture. Did he also include the facts which were contrary to his "particular thesis"?

One may accept the "validity" of most of Mr. Mandel's facts as presented. The historian, however, cannot ignore other data of equal "validity" which might add up to an opposite set of conclusions. As an example, Mr. Mandel made the point that communism has not been applied generally in certain Balkan states where private ownership of land prevails and where collectivization is rare.

The historian, however, also notes that collectivization of land holdings was not pushed in Soviet Russia before 1928. Yet none will deny that the Communists have been in the Russian saddle since late in 1917. And, was it not Lenin who recommended a policy of "strategic retreats," of retreating one step in order to advance two?

Mr. Mandel's talk was not without profit. It was a superb illustration of what can be accomplished by a capable mind when he marshals a striking array of facts in support of a given thesis, all the while ignoring other information which contradicts or modifies that thesis.

Certainly, it can be used to demonstrate the need of a critical examination of any one source as well as the necessity for an inquiry into all of the facts. The results generally may not be as conclusive, persuasive, and unqualified as Mr. Mandel's findings. But they will be more reliable.

Sincerely,
Oscar J. Hammen.
Assistant Professor of History and Political Science

Dear Editor:

A liberal is one who believes in personal freedom protected by law and is opposed to any man or group of men obtaining power that may endanger that freedom. The Communists now use "liberal" to mean "communist" and "democracy" to mean "communism" to mislead the unthinking.

Only a "liberal" by the communist definition would sit back calmly, nodding complete agreement, while a speaker spread the current party line propaganda to the effect that Russia has no expansionist aims and anything to the contrary is lies spread with an ulterior motive by big business men and power hungry politicians.

No mention was made by the convocation speaker last week of the fact that Russia is attempting to impose its totalitarian system on other countries by force, or the way it does so through its fifth column in each country, the local Communist party.

No mention was made by him of the reason why the Marshall plan is opposed with such fury by the Communists, namely, that it offers

IRC To Have Guest Speaker

The International Relations club meeting, originally scheduled for tonight, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 in the Silver room.

The Rev. Father Daniel B. Harrington, on the campus for Religious Emphasis week, will be the guest speaker, according to Joe McCracken, Dillon, IRC president.

Father Harrington is a native of Butte. He graduated from Carroll college in Helena in 1928. He also attended school at the North American college in Rome, Italy, being graduated in 1932.

COLOR FILM TO BE SHOWN AT SKI CLUB MEET

A color film, "Deep Powder in Sun Valley" will be shown after the 7 p.m. meeting of the Ski club in Journalism 304 tonight, Pres. Scotty Gray, announced yesterday.

Plans will be made at the meeting for trips to Gibbons Pass and Lookout for the coming week end.

Out of Focus

By Oppy

"All right, the three of you guys made too much noise coming in. That will cost each of you a dime for the polio fund."

Thus Ron Rice, Glacier Park, proctor in Corbin hall, addresses each fella as he enters the dorm while Ron is on duty. You see, the door squeaks, so his argument is quite valid.

Most of the gang "kicks in" without a fight, and Corbin's contribution is sure to be a sizeable one, and a fine example for the rest of the living quarters on the campus.

Jud Moore, Memphis, Tenn., says that at the Sigma Chi house there is a fine for the use of profanity on the premises. Though I couldn't believe it, the boys make more than a few "faux pas," and the fund has been built up to considerable proportions.

This, too, is to be turned over, in its entirety, to the polio drive, according to Jud. (For this plug I may receive a package of a popular brand of smokes for which Jud serves as campus representative.)

Julie Wuerthner, Great Falls, is publicity chairman for the drive against polio for the second time, and is striving to top the good job he did last year. The only way he can do this is for each of us to give the four cents change we get back when paying a dime for a spudnut at the Union, or to give that extra nickel or dime you've been carrying in your pocket when you pass one of the collection boxes on the campus.

And with this off the chest, it comes to me that this week end brings about an annual event, called alternately, "A Tribute to American Forestry," or by the pseudonym, "Barristers' Ball."

Among the more diabolical aspects of the great rivalry that is annually climaxed by dances (?) held by both schools, was the abduction of Jack Dietrich, Deer Lodge. A major "catasroscope" was avoided, however, by quick-thinking (again . . . ?) lawyers.

Several of Jack's colleagues swore out a warrant for his release through the local sheriff. The sheriff in turn called Dean Maucker, who became the victim of nervous prostration until he found out that it was only a gag (and one more . . . ?).

"Thanks to our great democracy, members of the forestry school will be allowed entrance to our dance. We only ask that they arrive clean-shaven and dressed in appropriate attire, befitting the year's top social function," said Pat McDonough, Law School association president, in a recent interview.

M Club Slates Boxing Bouts

Mitt slingers and mat groaners will hold their annual M Club Boxing and Wrestling tournament Feb. 21 announced Mike Kumpuris, Little Rock, Ark. Trophies will be given in every weight and the match winners will meet MSC at Bozeman March 6 and 7.

Last year the team trophy was presented to SAE by Pres. James A. McCain and Clyde Reichelt, Loma, won the outstanding boxer award. Out of eight classes of boxers of last year only Norman Allen, Hill City, S. D., and Chuck Johnson, Bigfork, are available for boxing this year.

Kumpuris said further that all entries must register in the men's gym this week. Weights will be in 10 pound divisions starting at 125 and going to heavy.

Persons interested in participating should report to the men's gym at once where they will find adequate training equipment. All weights are wide open and another top card is expected, Kumpuris said.

Dahlberg Accepts Chairmanship Of NAIB District

George "Jiggs" Dahlberg, Grizzly basketball coach, has accepted the position of chairman of the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball, district five. This district includes Montana, Wyoming, and eastern Idaho.

The NAIB sponsors the annual post-season basketball tournament held at Kansas City in March. Most smaller colleges belong to it, according to Dahlberg, including Montana State, Cheney, and Idaho State.

Walter Carte, Idaho State coach, the previous chairman, has resigned to enter business, said Dahlberg.

Montana State college has represented district five in the last two tournaments held in Kansas City.

Benefit Game To Feature Cubs Versus Spartans

Tonight the Cubs and the Spartans of Missoula High will play in the annual March of Dimes benefit in the high school gym at 8 o'clock. All the proceeds will go to the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation fund.

Cub Coach Eddie Chinske will take the entire squad with the probable starting lineup being Ridenour and Jack Scott at forwards, Kulawik at center, and Walsh and Kingsford at guards. The reserves are Adams, White, Grenager, Small, Corning, Sugg, and George Scott, who may not play because of a leg injury.

"I think things are going to be rather tough over there. They've got some good shots in that group and our defense needs some work," said Chinske.

Chinske said he would emphasize work on guarding and defense. Passing in the past three games has been ragged especially in the first quarter when the Cubs try to pass too fast and throw the ball away.

Chinske's Cubs have won three straight this season.

Walsh, Kingsford, Grenager, and Sugg all played with Chinske's high school champions and Adams and George Scott played with Columbus in 1945 when they were runner-up in the state.

In the preliminary game the high school Bombers and Broncs from Hamilton will play, starting at 7 o'clock.

Sociology Clinic Starts Tonight For Missouilans

The field work laboratory of the sociology department is inaugurating a group work clinic for all interested Missoula people tonight in the nursery school in Simpkins hall at 7:30, Dr. Harold Tascher said yesterday.

Esther Hansen, Missoula, will be chairman at the meetings. Leaders of several Missoula service organizations have been invited to participate in the clinic, Dr. Tascher said.

The topic for tonight's discussion will be "Group Leadership."

'Standing Room Only' At Music-Law Couvo

BY RON RICE

A "standing room only" sign was hanging on the Student Union auditorium Friday morning as the law school and Music club combined talents for their annual convocation.

With every seat taken, aisles took next priority. The traditional Barrister-Forester feud got an airing in the opening law school skit, Clayton Herron, Phillipsburg, led the lawyers as they attempted to iron out the age-old differences between the groups in the hypothetical meeting.

Joyce Shone, Butte, and Harold McChesney, Missoula, provided an amusing diversion, by wandering in and out of the skit as it progressed.

Foresters Attend

William Lockhart, president of the Forestry club, was on hand with many of his club members, and from their seats in the first four rows commented loudly upon the skit as it took place.

Following the skit, Floyd Chapman, Great Falls, was introduced as master of ceremonies for the Music club by Dennis Gordon, Coram.

The Kaiser string ensemble featuring John Wuerthner, Great Falls, opened the Music club entertainment with "Bumble Boogie."

Joe Merritt, Charleston, S. C., played "Begin the Beguine," and "Claire de Lune."

Nelson Welch, New York City, gave two Kipling sketches; "ere's to the Widow at Windsor" and "Gunga Din."

Floyd Chapman sang "For You Alone." Marian Lenn, Heron, played "Deep Purple" and Donna Skates and Richard Humphrey, both of Billings, sang "Tea for Two."

The Kaiser ensemble closed the program with "I'll See You in My Dreams," featuring Nancy Critelli, Billings, and her cello.

LETTERMEN TO ELECT FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

Men who cannot attend the meeting are asked to contact one of the present co-captains, Sam Leeper or Ben Tyvand, both of Butte.

McCain Keynotes Religion Week

character and personality," stated President McCain.

Another educational goal is social effectiveness, said President McCain. There is an urgent and pressing need on everyone's capacity for deeper human relationships.

"We find more tension, strife, and hostility, than ever before," he said. "It has become doubly evident in the homes where divorce rates have constantly risen. We have these same tensions and strifes even more threatening in our international relations."

McCain set forth two basic tenets of our religious faith that he feels we should look to for an answer to present needs—the Golden Rule and respect for the worthiness and dignity of human personality.

A third important goal of higher education is the preservation and the strengthening of the American way of life, President McCain felt. "Here again," said McCain, "we must turn to religion for an ultimate realization of our ideals. Throughout western civilization Christianity has been central to the development of democratic institutions.

"Such ideals of a democratic way of life as tolerance and social justice are identical with an outgrowth of our Christian ethics."
